

2014 Oro en Paz Dunnsden Vineyard product-pdf - Chalk Hill, Sonoma | Cabernet Franc - Single Vineyard Steal! Certified Organic

Why We're Drinking It

From the winery:

Oro En Paz is a small San Francisco winery founded by Ben Herod, Nate Clark and James Davids. San Francisco was once rich with more than a hundred small wineries. Now there are only a few, but we are proud to continue this tradition. Our name, meaning gold in peace, is taken from the old San Francisco motto and it is a symbol of our roots and our passion for great wine. Our truly hand crafted wines are grown on small, family run farms, then fermented and aged naturally like they were in the olden days. For us, Oro En Paz is about friendship, having fun, enjoying the moment and sharing with all the amazing people we meet. It is simple, genuine and delicious wine that has been cultivated and cared for with respect for the land and the people we love. The way it should be.

Tasting Notes from the Winery:

A bright and floral nose, rich with dark fruit, cassis and savory herbs that is soft on the palate with smooth and lingering tannins. The vineyard sits on a rolling hillside in the Chalk Hill AVA of Sonoma County. The cool climate lends exceptional balance and reserve to this wine which pairs well with a wide variety of foods.
